Join us as we honor:

Faye Wattleton

Please join us as we honor Faye Wattleton, who will be stepping down, after 14 years, from her role as CFAW's President. The event will celebrate Faye's contributions in co-founding and leading CFAW to become a reputable research-based communication institution for illuminating the challenges women face and the changes needed for their advancement and freedom from discrimination. In its short history, CFAW's unique vision has resulted in significant contributions to understanding the status of women at the beginning of the 21st Century.
